Kylie's day at the farm

Kylie had never been out of town or to a farm. She thought farm animals were cartoons made up for children's stories. Of course, she knew about cats and dogs but she had never seen a real sheep or bull!

Kylie had seen a horse, of course, because her friend went riding once a week and she sometimes went with her.

She was amazed to learn that her morning eggs came from hens and that ducks were not all called Donald! Kylie could not believe that her mum allowed her to eat bacon from a pig or even to drink milk from a cow.

Her favourite farm animal was the little playful goat that answered to his name. Kylie did think it strange that the baby goat was called a 'kid' and that it drank from a baby's bottle!

Kylie loved her day but came away confused - she still had so much to learn about the farm animals.
